

Effective July 31, 2013, internationally educated occupational therapists must meet one of the following minimum criteria to be considered eligible for the OTR® certification examination:

1. Completion of an Entry-Level Bachelor's Degree in Occupational Therapy from a government authorized and/or WFOT approved college or university occupational therapy educational program AND a Post Professional Masters Degree in Occupational Therapy OR
2. Completion of an Entry-Level Master's Degree in Occupational Therapy from a government authorized and/or WFOT approved college or university occupational therapy educational program

 In addition to the master's degree requirement in occupational therapy, applicants must complete NBCOT's Occupational Therapist Eligibility Determination (OTED) review to determine comparability to US accreditation occupational therapy educational standards/competencies.

Important Note: July 31, 2013, is the deadline for all internationally-educated occupational therapists who submitted OTED applications with a bachelor's degree in occupational therapy to be complete (having no outstanding documents). After July 31, 2013, incomplete applications will be returned.

All internationally-educated occupational therapists reviewed under current OTED eligibility standards and approved for exam eligibility with a bachelor's degree in occupational therapy must take the OTR® examination by July 31, 2014. After this date, only those approved with a master's degree in occupational therapy deemed comparable to a U.S. entry-level accredited master's degree in occupational therapy will be eligible to apply for the OTR® examination.
